

MedStart 2022

Organized by Asian Medical Students' Association Hong Kong (AMSAHK), MedStart is a medical school immersion program for secondary students who are interested in applying to medical schools. The theme this year is 'Pandemics in Practice'. This program provides aspiring medics a glimpse of the medical students' life by deepening participants' knowledge of a medicine career and preparing them for university application.

Three outstanding Biology students, who are 4D Tong Chi Kit, 4E Li Long Hei and 4E Yung Pok Yu, have participated in the following activities of MedStart 2022:

- Lectures by CUHK and HKU professors
- Information talks on both universities' curricula and teaching methods
- Problem-based Learning (PBL) tutorials
- Virtual tours of university campuses and facilities
- Sharing panels from doctors and current medical students
- Discussions on ethics and social issues
- Practical activities on public health, vaccine and X-rays
