

Animal Conservation Workshop

The Biology Club invited experienced zoologists to conduct an animal conservation workshop at school. The zoologists introduced various animals to the students, including Tarantula, Milk Snake and African Bullfrog. The school principal, Dr. Lau and students closely interacted with the animals. They could touch the animals with bare hands. The workshop broadened students' horizons and vividly taught them biological knowledge about animal rearing and conservation.

